

HOW THEY GOT DOWN—Scouts told reporters they made their way down from top of rock ledge by walking down slanting rock pile. Rockslide area is to the south of cliff on which Scouts were stranded Wednesday night.

Scouts Brought Down From Ledge On Mount Tamani

SOAKED TO THE skin but still smiling 10 Delaware Water Gap Boy Scouts were brought down from the top of Mount Tamani early yesterday morning.

Officials at Camp Weygadt yesterday afternoon were playing down the all-night vigil which kept state police and other rescue workers standing in steady pounding rain and fog. And the Scouts said they really didn't know what the fuss was all about.

It began when the Scouts left Weygadt for an overnight camping trip Wednesday afternoon. They were accompanied by their assistant Scoutmaster.

Wrong Trail
Somewhere along the line the Scouts apparently took the wrong trail, Camp Weygadt officials said. Scout Chief Walter S. Culpepper told a reporter that the leader was "not too familiar with the terrain."

Illness Claims Life Of Senator Myers

PHILADELPHIA, July 5 (AP)—Francis J. Myers, former Democratic senator from Pennsylvania, died today at Graduate Hospital.

Myers, who was 54, had been in ill health for more than a year and physicians recently diagnosed his ailment as leukemia.

The son of a post office employee, Myers taught Latin, English and History at his high school alma mater while attending night law school at Temple University. Entering politics in the mid-30's, he rose rapidly during the administration of Democratic Gov. George H. Earle. After a brief term as a state deputy attorney general, he was elected to Congress from the old Sixth District of West Philadelphia, a modest residential section comprising five wards.

Public Speaker

His ability as a public speaker, his keen sense of humor and a willingness to champion the cause of Franklin D. Roosevelt's "common man" gave the young congressman a large personal following and he was elected with little trouble to three successive terms.

In 1944, he ran for the U. S. Senate seat then held by the veteran Republican, James J. Davis, and was elected along with Roosevelt in the latter's fourth term in office.

Head ledge, a narrow, loose-rock shelf high above Route 611.

The specific area is well-known for its rock slides. Signs along the roadway warn approaching motorists of the danger of slides.

Around nightfall Wednesday a passing motorist hit a large rock—about a foot around, with sharp edges. The driver stopped his car. He was Paul Nicholas, Mount Holly, N. J. An Explorer Post leader, he was on his way back home with a group of Scouts. Nicholas found out the rock had "blown" a brand-new tire and nearly ruined a wheel, he said. When he looked high up at the ledge he saw lights flickering.

Nicholas communicated with the Scouts on the rock shelf above him. Then he stopped a group of cars; sent motorists on to notify State Police and Camp Weygadt officials. A Boy Scout official called in Civil Defense and volunteer firemen to set up emergency lighting equipment along the road.

Weygadt also dispatched Asher Kahler, Nazareth, a camp leader. He was accompanied by Arthur Platt, 19 of Pohatcong Township. Platt had been passing by; volunteered his services in the search for the boys.

According to Culpepper three searching parties were sent up the mountain. Meanwhile, back at the camp, Culpepper and the women in charge of the mess hall boiled up a big fire and waited anxiously for the Scouts to be led down.

Location

Yesterday Platt said that he and Kahler located the boys on Indian Head and lead them higher up the mountain to a cabin. A group of other Scouts — from Troop 75 of Marshalls Creek — were already staying there.

Platt and Kahler started their search for the boys at about 10 p.m. Wednesday. According to Platt they found the boys shortly before dawn yesterday morning. At about sunrise the two groups of Scouts headed back down the mountain side, Platt said. The Scouts made their descent down the slanted incline of a large rockslide pile facing Route 611, members of the group said yesterday.

They were met half-way down by State Trooper Lester Pagano, New Jersey State police of the Blairstown sub-station. Pagano was one of a group of nearly two dozen men who spent the entire night at the base of the mountain.

Attempt

He and another trooper, John Fredericks, accompanied by other rescuers, attempted to find the boys earlier in the night. After attempting for two hours to find their way through the heavily fog-shrouded mountain brush in a heavy downpour of rain, the party turned back.

Pagano also maintained contact with the Scouts while they were on the edge of the cliff earlier in the night, using a public address system borrowed from a fire company.

Once back down the mountain — after an absence of more than 12 hours — the Scouts were ordered to change into dry clothing by camp officials. Later in the day they posed cheerfully for pictures and talked over their "adventure" with humor.

Chaperoned by camp officials the Scouts posed for photographs. Culpepper said that the 10 boys were examined by Dr. Harry Underwood, Easton, on their arrival back at camp.

All of them were okay, he said.

Governor Reveals 'Pressure' For Shortway

HARRISBURG, July 5 (AP)—Gov. Leader said today he hoped the federal government would take over financing of "portions" of the state's turnpike system under its new highway construction program. Such an action would end tolls on the superhighway across the state.

"It seems to me we're moving from the era of toll roads to an era of free interstate arteries," the governor declared.

Leader told his first news conference after returning from a trip to Europe that "toll roads are becoming a thing of the past."

J. L. Stinson, Pennsylvania district engineer for the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, commented promptly that the present 300-mile east-west section of the turnpike from the Ohio to the New Jersey state line meets federal requirements.

Requests

"If the state requests, and the main office (Washington) approves, the turnpike from Trenton to the Ohio state line can be approved," Stinson said.

However, he added, "that is about all of the present turnpike that fits." He said the present northeastern extension to Scranton probably would not meet federal requirements for interstate roads because there is no interstate connection.

The governor also said "steady pressure" continues for construction of a northwestern extension of the turnpike from Pittsburgh to Erie and the shortway from Stroudsburg to Sharon. Neither of these authorized projects have gotten past the preliminary plan stage.

Leader said there would be no further action on those or other turnpike projects until the federal aid program is clarified.

Congress has appropriated more than $41 million dollars for Pennsylvania in the next three years for highway construction. Funds for interstate highways would receive federal aid on the ratio of 90 dollars from the government for each 10 dollars put up by the state in matching funds.

System

The governor contended the turnpike is in effect a part of the national road system with millions of out-of-state motorists riding it every year since it was first opened in 1904.

"We are holding up any further action in expanding the (turnpike) system until the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads tells us what will be part of the interstate system in Pennsylvania," Leader said. Asked to be more explicit as to how the turnpike could be taken over by the federal government since it is, in effect, in the hands of the bondholders, Leader replied:

"I am not saying it should be taken over, I'm saying it will be." He then explained that the remaining outstanding turnpike bonds could be retired by federal grants with state help.

About 180 million dollars is still outstanding on the original superhighway with 288 millions more on the Delaware River extension and the northeastern extension to Scranton.

However, Stinson said "the state initiates all projects. We (the Bureau of Public Roads) are a co-operating agency." He added that the toll road "is the present interstate means of travel."

Requirements

Stinson said the projected 40-mile turnpike route across Erie County would meet federal requirements with minor modifications to projected plans. The link has not yet been financed by the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission because of the unfavorable condition of the national bond market.

"The Erie link could be approved if the state so requests," Stinson declared.

The Weather

House Kills Measure For School Aid

Mediators Meet With Steel Rivals

PITTSBURGH, July 5 (AP)—The director of the Federal Mediation Service today met with the striking United Steel Workers and three representatives of the basic steel industry to discuss contract differences in the five-day nationwide steel strike and said, "We will be in touch with the parties early next week after studying the information."

Director Joseph F. Finnegan said he is hopeful that the union and companies can arrange their own negotiations but added, "I've had no indications to that effect."

Facts

Finnegan said the meetings were held to get facts and information concerning the strike of 850,000 steel workers that has also idled nearly 50,000 employees in allied industries.

He said the meetings produced "new and helpful" facts.

In Washington, the government announced that it froze warehouse supplies of steel products needed for defense production.

Before the session began, John A. Stephens, U.S. Steel vice president and top industry negotiator, told reporters there is "no bitterness" between the company and the union. He said the industry has found it impossible to grant the union "in some measure at least" its contract objectives without a long-term agreement.

"There is no bitterness at all," Stephens said. "We respect David (McDonald, USW president) and his viewpoint. The fact that people do not agree on economic terms does not mean they become enemies."

The last negotiating session was held in New York Saturday night, six hours before the economy-damaging strike was called against 90 per cent of the nation's steel-producing mills.

McDonald had no comment after the meeting other than to say the union "is following its traditional pattern of responding to the government of the United States."

Meanwhile, the effects of the strike continued to spread across the nation. Already nearly 50,000 workers have been laid off or notified of layoffs in related industries. Railroads and other freight carriers are the hardest hit.

The strike was called after the union rejected an industry offer for a 52-month no-strike contract that the companies estimated would have given steel workers an hourly package increase of 17-23 cents in the first year. The union valued the package at 14 cents an hour.

Miller Sends Information To Committee

WASHINGTON, July 5 (AP)—The State Department reported it received "additional information" today from New York playwright Arthur Miller in support of his latest application for a passport.

The Pulitzer prize-winning writer—who was married last week to Marilyn Monroe—submitted the application in May.

Press officer Joseph Reap said last week Miller had been told that because the department had "derogatory" information about him in its files, he would have to submit an affidavit concerning his past or present affiliation with the Communist party.

Advice

"This was received about a week ago," a department spokesman said. "When we got it, we asked his lawyer if Miller wished to submit anything more."

The lawyer later advised the 40-year-old writer did want to give the department additional information. This arrived today, the spokesman said, and included another affidavit plus "supplemental" matter.

The spokesman declined to reveal the contents of the latest statement.

HOW THEY CAME OUT—The object of an all-night vigil and searching parties sent out in an effort to bring them down from the top of towering Indian Head Ledge Wednesday night and yesterday morning, these Water Gap Boy Scouts made it through the night wet but unscathed. ### Twining Rates U.S. Over Reds In Air GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 5 (AP)—Gen. Nathan F. Twining reported today Russia probably has more jet aircraft than the United States but "there is no question" that this country has the better air force.

Fresh from a visit to Moscow, the Air Force chief of staff gave this appraisal to newsmen after reporting on his trip to President Eisenhower and top Pentagon brass gathered here.

Twining was guarded in his talk with reporters and his blood pressure seemed to rise a bit under their persistent questioning. But he made these contributions to the debate raging over comparative U.S. and Soviet air strength:

No Question

1. There is no question, as far as he can see, about this country's remaining in front in the airpower race in the next few years. Qualitatively, it is in front now.

2. Nevertheless, Russia might surpass the United States in military aviation by 1960 if, as Twining put it, this country goes to sleep and does not keep moving.

3. The Russians "probably are ahead of us in jet aircraft—numberwise."

4. He still thinks, as he did when he testified before congressional committees last month, that the two nations are "about the same" in the over-all number of military aircraft, counting Navy, Coast Guard and Marine planes, as well as the Air Force.

5. On Air Force development, he believes "the programs the Air Force has recommended are satisfactory, at this time."

Thus Twining stood generally with the administration on Air Force policy and against a powerful group of senators who contend the United States is losing ground to the Soviet Union in the struggle for world air supremacy.

Returns To Bench

NICOSIA, Cyprus, July 5 (AP)—Justice Bernard V. Shaw, wounded by Greek Cypriot extremists 10 days ago, returned to the bench today. He promptly acquitted two youths accused of throwing two bombs last April in an outlying village.

Kidnaper Fails to Fall Into Trap Baited With Fake Money

WESTBURY, N. Y., July 5 (AP)—The kidnaper of a 4-week-old boy failed today to enter a police trap baited with dummy ransom packages. An official for the first time conceded the child may have been slain.

The ransom packages were envelopes filled with blank paper in the shape of currency. The only real bills in them were on the outside of the wads of paper.

The packages were placed outside the brick ranch house from which the kidnaper yesterday afternoon seized the 33-day-old Peter Weinberger, youngest son of a well-to-do wholesale druggist.

The child's mother, Mrs. Morris Weinberger, a tiny, brown-haired woman, left Peter alone in his carriage on the patio while she went into the house for a fresh diaper. She was inside only a few minutes. When she returned to the patio, the child was gone. A note left in the carriage read:

"I hate to do this to you, but I am in great trouble. Don't notify the police. I am not asking for a lot of money, only for what I need, and I am very serious about this."

Direction

The note directed that $2,000 in small bills be placed at an intersection near the suburban home. Because there are two similar intersections nearby, police said they put out two packages—one at each. The kidnaper's own deadline for picking up the ransom was 10 o'clock.

"Every instruction about leaving the package was observed," Detective Chief Stuyvesant Pinnell told newsmen after the deadline passed. The only apparent deviation was the substitute of worthless paper for actual currency.

State Ready To Assist

HARRISBURG, July 5 (AP)—Pennsylvania is ready to pour 14 million dollars into preliminary work for millions of dollars worth of federal flood control projects throughout the Commonwealth.

Dr. Maurice K. Goddard, secretary of forests and waters, said the money will be used to assist local governments to pay for land and relocation costs involved in the projects.

Statement

"Unless that department shares these costs projects normally would not be constructed," he added.

Some 16 million dollars in federal flood control funds will be paid Pennsylvania contingent on the state and municipalities assuming the costs of land acquisitions and utility relocations.

Truman Wants To Stay 'Neutral'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Former President Harry S. Truman reiterated Thursday he wants to "remain neutral," but made plain he would rather not see Sen. Estes Kefauver win the Democratic presidential nomination.

"I have an inclination to somebody else besides Kefauver," Truman said in New York where he breakfasted with Gov. Averell Harriman, a contender for the nomination.

"We did not discuss candidates," Truman told reporters.

Thursday's political news was mostly Democratic, with Republicans quiet for the time being.

Candidate

In Washington, Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga.) predicted most of the Southern states will vote for Adlai E. Stevenson on the first ballot at next month's Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

And unless Sen. Lyndon Johnson "looks up as a serious candidate, I think all but two or three Southern states will be voting for Stevenson on the second ballot."

Johnson, the Senate majority leader, has 56 votes as Texas' "favorite son" and scattered support elsewhere. Johnson has said, however, that he isn't running for anything this year but wants the convention to adopt a "moderate" platform and to nominate the same kind of a candidate.

Daring Army Helicopter Crews Succeed In Landing Next To Wrecked United Airliner

GRAND CANYON, Ariz., July 5 (AP)—Daring Army helicopter crews today finally succeeded in landing on a tiny pinnacle, 2,600 feet above the Grand Canyon floor where a United airliner crashed last Saturday after colliding with a TWA plane in a tragedy that took 128 lives.

They found further evidence of a collision of the two giant airliners in commercial aviation's worst accident.

The first helicopter to reach the almost inaccessible spot was piloted by Capt. Walter Spriggs of Smackover, Ark., who said the landing was made on a spot no larger than the 'copter itself. Experts had predicted neither helicopters or ground crews would ever reach the crash site.

Danger

"If you misjudge the distance by 10 or 15 feet," Spriggs said, "you would drop maybe 1,000 feet into the canyon. It's real dangerous."

Spriggs and W. O. Howard Proctor of Kings Mountain, N.C., brought out a piece of cowling UAL engineers said definitely was from a DC7 and another piece painted red and white which Gordon Gilmore, TWA publicist, said bore markings "similar" to those of TWA's Superconstellations.

A second helicopter was flown in by C. W. O. Bill Pierson of Twin Falls, Idaho, and Lt. Paul Walter of Washington, Pa. They dropped two mountain climbers, Raymond Ratson and L. David Lewis of Boulder, Colo., on the top of the rock spur where the wreckage lies.

They carried rope ladders to be dropped to crews trying to get up from the base of the butte near the Colorado River 2,600 feet below.

Any bodies found by the two men left in the canyon today will be brought out tomorrow.

Martin To Head Delegates

HARRISBURG, July 5 (AP)—U. S. Sen. Edward Martin was elected today to head Pennsylvania's 70-vote delegation to the Republican National Convention at San Francisco next month.

George I. Bloom, Republican state chairman, said 59 mail ballots from among the delegation indicated "practically a unanimous" preference for Martin.

Certify

Bloom told a news conference he would certify the election to the Republican National Committee.

Stroudsburg Firemen Honor Member

STROUDSBURG firemen joined last night in honoring Edward Warnick, long-time member of Phoenix Fire Co.

Warnick is retiring from the borough department due to a change in residence. He and his family are moving to Stroud township.

The veteran fireman joined Phoenix Co. on Sept. 7, 1933. He served as company treasurer in 1938. A year later he was elected lieutenant of the company, a post he held until he was promoted to captain in 1944.

Warnick served as captain until 1946 when he moved from the borough for a brief time. Returning in 1950 he was reelected to the same post; held it through the following year.

Instructor

Since retiring as company captain he has acted as instructor in charge of pumping operations.

His fellow firemen presented a gold watch, suitable inscribed, to him last night during the ceremony. A department spokesman summed up the feeling of company members with these comments:

"Certainly our loss should be their (Stroud township's) gain, as Mr. Warnick is considered by the firemen to be one of the best-qualified men in fire service, both from the standpoint of knowledge and the service he has rendered to the citizens of the borough of Stroudsburg during his 23 years of service to the Stroudsburg fire department."

STARKE, Fla., July 5 (P)—A gunman robbed the Florida National Bank today of $28,000.

Sheriff P. D. Reddish and the FBI immediately began an investigation.

He took the money in bills from the vault and fled.

The robber gained entrance to the bank by a rear window and was waiting with a revolver when the janitor, Dan Thomas, showed up.

Then he lined up seven other employees as they arrived and waited for the time lock on the vault to click.

The bank normally opens for business at 9:30 a.m. The gunman was gone by 9:10.

CHESTER H. RHODES, of Stroudsburg, president judge of the Pennsylvania Superior Court, has been elected first vice president of the Muhlenberg Medical Center which is to be built in the Allentown-Bethlehem area.

Chester H. Rhodes

Judge Rhodes, a trustee of St. John's Lutheran Church, Stroudsburg, was previously named one of the 27 directors from 10 cities and towns in the region. Among the other directors are George M. Sowers, formerly of Stroudsburg; Warren R. Roberts, summer resident of Buck Hill Falls, and Rev. Frank Flisser, summer resident of Paradise Falls.

President

Henry L. Snyder, Emmaus attorney, was elected president of the center, which is expected to cost $6,000,000. He said no site has been selected for the 328-bed general hospital the group plans to build, but "the location most frequently referred to is the northern suburban area of Bethlehem and Allentown."

After completion of incorporation proceedings, a fund-raising campaign will be launched in the entire valley, Snyder said.

Other officers include Brighton C. Dieffenderfer, Allentown, second vice president; Dr. Gustavus H. Bechtold, Philadelphia, third vice president; Mrs. Grace E. Gilbert, Allentown, secretary, and Fred R. Body, Bethlehem, treasurer.

Among the 100 persons listed as incorporators of the organization are Rev. P. N. Wohlsen, D. D., pastor of St. John's Lutheran Church, Stroudsburg, and his son, Rev. Asa Wohlsen, of Allentown.

Eisenhower Declares Farm Safety Week

PRESIDENT Eisenhower has proclaimed the week of July 22-28 as National Farm Safety Week. "This is an appropriate time to dedicate ourselves to farm safety," says Carson F. Metz, farm safety chief in the State Department of Public Instruction. "Too many accidents happen at this time of year when farmers are working with harvest and have a lot to do in a short time."

Himself a farmer at one time, Metz knows how one should save every minute when crops are harvest-ripe. "But there are many farmers in the state today," he warns, "who can say from bitter experience how foolish it is to ignore safety precautions in order to save a minute of time. Instead of getting the job done quicker, these farmers went to the hospital and didn't get the job done at all."

Story

The following harvest-time story proves what can happen as a result of hurry. A farmer was walking along behind a combine to check whether the machine was doing a clean job of harvesting. He spotted a stream of grain leaking from the combine and ordered the operator to halt. He saw a leak in an elevator and disgustedly poked a finger into the hole. The auger was still running. When the farmer had recovered from the shock of having his finger cleanly amputated, he looked at the side of the combine.

There in big letters, was a sign:

Dogs in the vicinity of Orient Reish killed a dozen chickens for them and broke down sweet corn.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Shively, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Bittenbender and grandson Leon and Ernest Werkheiser spent Fourth of July at Lake Wallenpaupack visiting Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hulsizer and son Bobby.

"Safety First—Stop Machine Before Repairs or Adjustments."

"I knew without reading the sign that that was the right thing to do," the farmer regretfully admitted. "But I was just in too big a hurry."

Bureau Warns Of Barbecued Chicken Sale

BUREAU of Standard Weights and Measures yesterday warned dealers in barbecued chicken they must sell their product by weight.

John W. Schimmel of Anasimink, inspector in Monroe, Pike, Wayne and Northampton Counties, have been informing dealers of the regulation which is being enforced under the State Commodity Law.

Set Price

Barbecued chicken dealers, according to Schimmel, were selling their product at a set price, regardless of weight, with the result that a chicken weighing one pound, two ounces, sold for the same price as one pound, seven ounces, for example.

Chicken sold for consumption on the premises is not governed by the weight rule, Schimmel said.

Mrs. Keller, 89, Expires

MRS. CLARA Keller, 89, died Wednesday at 10 p.m. at her home in Delaware Water Gap.

She was the widow of Clayton Keller, born in Delaware Water Gap. Mrs. Keller was the daughter of the late Moses and Julia Van Scooten. She had lived all her life in that borough.

Services

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2:30 p.m. at Dunkelberger and Westbrook funeral home. Rev. Luther Markin will officiate. Interment will be made in Delaware Water Gap cemetery. Surviving are two daughters, Amelia and Nellie Keller, both at home; two sons, Austin Keller of Elmhurst, N. Y., and Benton Keller, at home and nieces.

Stroudsburg Borough Council Approves Housing Site Plans

Adopts New Salary Setup For Burris

STROUDSBURG Borough Council last night went on record as adopting the proposed site plan for 28 subsidized housing units off W. Main St.

The plan was presented to the council by Rev. Roger C. Stinson, chairman of the Monroe County Housing Authority, which will administer the units.

Council members were also informed that the borough will receive about $124,655 annually from the Public Housing Administration in lieu of taxes on the development. It was further estimated the borough would receive about $1,149.80 in taxes if the location was developed privately.

However, Mr. Stinson explained that in addition to the annual Federal payment, the borough will collect sewer and water rents. Moreover, it will stand to share in the profits from the housing units after the bonds are paid off.

Extending Lines

Mr. Stinson also discussed the matter of extending sewer and water lines to another tract off W. Main St., which is being developed by the Monroe County Land and Building Co. Homes in the $7,000 to $9,000 price bracket will be erected on that tract and sold to middle income families with the help of FHA-insured, or VA-guaranteed, long-term mortgages. This development is not to be confused with the subsidized housing project.

Mr. Stinson, who also serves as building company president, reported it will cost about $73,000 to extend water and sewer lines, and to install streets and storm sewers, at this private housing development.

He said the Community Facilities Administration may supply loans for such improvements when private capital is not available at a lower rate. However, the bond issue must be floated by an established municipal group, such as the borough council, the Municipal Authority, or the County Redevelopment Authority.

Stinson estimated sewers would cost about $41,000, and water lines would cost an additional $14,000. The remainder of the $73,000 estimate would be spent for streets and storm sewers.

In other action, council adopted a new salary schedule for Harvey B. Burris, operator of the borough's sewage treatment works.

Schedule

Under the schedule, the minimum annual salary was set at $3,000 with the maximum at $4,200. Burris, who has been on an hourly rate, will start off at $3,120, and will be eligible for $120 increases every six months until he reaches the maximum.

Council also authorized Burris to attend a sewage works school July 23-27 at Pennsylvania State University.

Meanwhile, Borough Engineer Edward C. Hess reported that difficulties have been experienced since the flood in keeping the sewage plant in operation. He explained that one of the chief difficulties has been that the present average amount of sewage cannot be handled during an eight-hour work shift.

A representative of the engineering firm of Albright & Friel recommended that a man be assigned to work at the plant from 8 to 10 p.m., Hess said. The plan was put into effect for a week and a noted improvement was evidenced. Therefore, it's expected to be continued.

Council authorized the engineering firm representative to spend three days here to further study conditions at the sewage treatment works.

Council also took the following action:

Request

Approved a request of the A. B. Wyckoff Department Store to erect another canopy in front of the store on Main St.

Approved Memorial Day donations of $75 for the Veterans of Foreign Wars and $25 for the American Legion.

Authorized the transfer of $516 from the 1936 sewer bond sinking fund account to the coupon account to pay coupons due August 1 on a $37,500 bond issue at 2 1/2 percent

A LONG LOOK BACKWARD for young men and women who are helping rehabilitate East Stroudsburg playground came last night with showing of color slides of the August 1955 flood that did the damage. Slides were taken and shown by Albert Koster, shown in center foreground here. During showing members of the American Friends Service Committee project group (in background) asked questions about the flood. For the young people, it was the first direct look at original damages.

READING, July 5 (AP)—Striking simultaneously in a planned series of raids, special agents of the Philadelphia division of the Internal Revenue Service this afternoon seized more than two dozen pinball and multi-coin operated machines used as gambling devices in Reading and Berks County.

Daniel L. Tucker, chief of the district's intelligence division, said the machines were seized for non-payment of the $250 tax stamp required for each coin operated machine used for gambling. NEW YORK, July 5 (AP)—A second headwaiter of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel was indicted today on charges of failing to pay federal income taxes on tips.

Arthur Hagedorn, 54, was accused by a Brooklyn grand jury of cheating the government out of $11,781 on his 1952 and 1953 income tax returns.

Successor

Hagedorn was the successor as Waldorf headwaiter for 65-year-old Hans Paul, who on April 21 was sentenced to four months in prison and fined $7,500. Paul had been charged with failure to report more than $67,000 received in tips between 1949 and 1952.

Brooklyn U.S. Dist. Atty. Leonard P. Moore said he was launching a crackdown on tax cheaters among New Yorkers who receive tips in their profession.

Blast Tears Separation

A 1,000-POUND dynamite blast has torn away the last few feet of earth and rock which separated the north and south sections of the T. J. Evans Tunnel on the Pennsylvania Turnpike Northeast Extension, Lehigh.

Although the job was to be completed Tuesday morning, it wasn't finished until that night because extra precautions had to be taken when workmen encountered a barrier of extremely soft rock.

The 4,150-foot tunnel emerges on the north side near Bowmans-town and on the south side near Slateville. The break-through came 287 days after the first dynamite blast was fired on the north side last Sept. 21. Between four and five hundred men have been working on both ends of the tunnel beneath picturesque Blue Mountain.

Don't Be Afraid Of Natural Color

DON'T BE afraid of color! Watch color at work all around you, in the sky, the earth and flowers. You can follow nature and surround yourself with a warm glow or peaceful quiet.

Each color has its own special quality. Red is fire, hot and stimulating under control, but dangerous and obnoxious when out of control. Blue is sky and water, clean and restful. Green is grass and trees, eye-filling and soothing. Yellow is sun, gay and sparkling. Beige and brown are the earth, solid and sure. Gray is stone, a good neutralizer. Black and white are coal and clouds, strong and light, serving as accents.

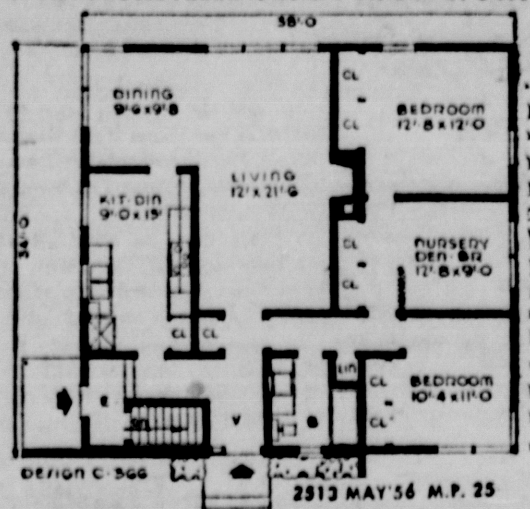

Stand-by. Study the effect color must produce in your room. Must it add light; soften a glare; enlarge a room? Create a sense of coziness? Each room serves a different function and the color scheme can enhance that function.

Consider your foyer as assisting you in greeting guests by keeping the colors bright and cheerful. Your living room should have both the qualities of restfulness, a light background with a beige carpet and accents of Spring green and geranium would be appropriate.

In dining areas keep your colors fresh and sparkling so as to create a happy background for all your meals. In the bedroom, cool, restful colors are suitable for sleep—dolphin blue, soft violet and white are effective with both light and dark woods.

A SMALL HOUSE PLANNING BUREAU DESIGN NO. C-366

DESIGN C-366. Here is a plan with perfect circulation. Every room in the house, including the basement, can be reached from the front entrance.

To take advantage of a pleasant view, the L-shaped living room is in the rear and all service rooms and both entrances are in front.

The center bedroom has a folding partition and can be used as a nursery, in connection with the red bedroom, or as a den. The roof is dead level with pitch and gravel roofing, figured to withstand snow loads and insulated.

Exterior finish is brick in front, a continuous canopy, and shingle siding. Floor area is 1292 square feet and cubage is 21,964 cubic feet.

For further information about DESIGN C-366, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn. In Canada, the Small House Planning Bureau of Canada, St. John, New Brunswick.

Bathrooms Growing Popular

JUST AS father is trying to figure how to squeeze a second bathroom, or even a powder room, out of a meager building budget, builders and plumbing equipment manufacturers come up with the discouraging prediction that within the next five years no house will be considered complete unless it has at least three bathrooms.

The trend in that direction is already spreading rapidly, they say, and if present economic conditions continue, it's likely to spread still faster.

Statistics indicate that the prediction is not entirely the result of wishful thinking or a desire on the part of the manufacturers to stimulate the bathtub and washbowl business.

With larger families enjoying a more active home life, the need is apparent. And with incomes continuing to increase, the ability to meet this new need for improved living standards is apparent, too.

In most homes, this is how the three bathrooms would be located: The master bath near the parents' bedroom; a children's bath adjoining the children's room or rooms, and a guest bath or powder room placed where it can also serve the family recreation room.

First Piece Of Wallpaper Proves Tough

AFTER YOU'VE hung one piece of wallpaper, hanging the rest is a pretty simple business. After you've got the first strip of paper on the wall so that it's perfectly straight up and down, getting the rest of the paper on straight is easy. The trick is getting that first piece up straight.

A good way to start hanging paper is at a door frame for this means you can use the trim around the door as a guide for the edge of the paper. But before you apply the paper, check the door frame with a level or plumb line. You may find that the frame is not straight and this means if you use it as a guide for the paper is not going to come out straight.

Not Straight. If you find that the door frame isn't straight, measure off about two inches less than the width of the paper on the wall next to the frame. Then take a chalk line and run it from ceiling to floor this distance away from the frame. Snap the chalk line and it will leave a line of chalk along the wall.

This line, the width of the paper, less two inches from the door frame is your guide line. Apply the first strip of paper, using this line for the far edge of the paper and allowing the near edge to come over the door frame. Then simply trim off the paper so that it comes flush with the door frame. Now that you've got this first strip of paper up straight, use the edge that runs along the chalk line for your guide.

It's a good idea to check your paper from time to time with a plumb line to be sure that you don't get a little off and get some strips of paper up crooked.

Natural Stone Gives Note Of Distinction To Modern Home

NATURAL STONE gives a home an air of distinction—yet you don't have to use much stone—you just have to use it effectively. A stone framing for your front door; a stone planter under your windows; one facade of stone when the rest of your interior is clapboard—these are economical and charming ways of adding the elegance of stone to your home.

You'll find stone a most handsome and practical flooring for such traffic areas in the home as halls, foyers and activities rooms.

Formal. And of course, with stone you can have the most formal fireplace in one room and a delightfully informal one in another. You can use it for an entire fireplace wall, or as a room divider, or for a wall area that might otherwise be uninteresting in appearance.

Soap Over Glass. IF YOU don't have any masking tape handy when it's time to paint around glass, coat the glass with soap. This will prevent the paint from sticking but better not try to wash off the soap until the paint is thoroughly dry.

Patching Cement. HOLES AND cracks in insulation over pipes and boilers can be patched with a little asbestos cement. Wet down the edge of the opening before applying the patch.

Floor Colors Limited. USE OF COLOR on floors now is usually limited to one or two for any single floor.

Keep Metal Surfaces Well Painted

IMPORTANCE of keeping metal surfaces, such as roofs and gutters, well painted cannot be over-emphasized.

Tin, galvanized iron and other metals used for roofing, spouts, gargages and various purposes present difficulties in painting. Often the paint does not stick well, probably owing to a thin film of grease left on the material in the process of manufacture.

Scrub. Oil or grease should be thoroughly removed by scrubbing with soap and water or with a cloth moistened with benzine. All loose rust should be cleaned off thoroughly with scrapers, wire brushes.

Groove For Glue. BEFORE you glue a wood dowel into place, cut a small groove the length of the dowel. This will allow any excess of glue to flow out and insure a better fit and a tighter joint.

New Spy Hunt Begins

CHICAGO, July 5—A new "Soviet spy hunt" is being conducted in Washington, the Chicago Daily News said today in a dispatch from the capital.
Edwin A. Lahey, the Daily News' Washington bureau chief, reported:

"FBI men and military intelligence officers are trying to locate the source of information an expelled Soviet diplomat may have had at the Pentagon."

Name
The expelled diplomat was named as Col. Ivan A. Bubchikov, former assistant military attache at the Soviet Embassy in Washington.

The State Department informed the Soviet Embassy last June 14 that Bubchikov's activities were "incompatible with his continued presence in this country" and Bubchikov left 10 days later, the news related.

"Reports not contradicted by official sources said that Bubchikov had been obtaining U. S. military secrets through an illicit mail drop," Lahey's dispatch stated.

The story said "it was learned that the original complaint against the Russian military expert came from the Pentagon."

Expulsion of Bubchikov was "carried out secretly" and not admitted by the State Department until a weekly news magazine reported it Tuesday, the paper said.

Milk at the Drop of a Coin on Main Street in Rochester

AT THE END of June, which was Dairy month, practically every citizen of Rochester, N. Y., knew it was; and it was quite fashionable to drink milk on Main street. Getting milk on Main street was not a simple task. It had to be on the basis of milk for milk's sake, that is, no brand names on the containers. Fifteen vending machines were loaned; refrigerated delivery trucks were loaned, with firm names covered; eight companies filled the cartons with plain or chocolate milk; the local union gave the service of drivers; and stores, banks and office buildings permitted the vending machines to be set up near their entrances. And the city drank it up!

Viewing the Screens

IT WAS INDEED heartening to read yesterday's editorial and find that readership in this country has increased despite what might seem to be a maxim: Why bother to read a book when you can see the movie, the play or the show on television. This is not to say that the screens do not have a valuable part to play in our civilization. But rather, that their part seems to be out of proportion to their actual value.

Unfortunately, one reason that poor shows can be presented is that they are popular. It is the public then, who should think and discriminate about what we spend our time and money doing. Just sitting in front of the TV set all night is not always rewarding entertainment.

Tonight's Shows

"The Steel Key" will be "Late Date's" play at 11 with the sudden death of two scientists in steel research. . . watch Ch. 12.

Seventh-Day Adventists To Close Convention Tomorrow

Stroudsburg area Seventh-Day Adventists attending the statewide sessions of the church near Westerville heard William B. Ochs, director of North American Division for the church, reveal the progress of the church's endeavors along medical, educational, welfare and evangelistic lines in the North American continent.

Ochs who directs the work in the nine regional unions for the division reported that over 6,000 members were added in one recent quarter-year. "The church's membership is close to the 290,000 mark and is organized into over 370 churches. Included in the division are the territories of Alaska and Hawaii," he said. "Last year members and friends gave over $55 million dollars to sustain a global work of humanitarian uplift. The tithe per capita is over $106 which is one of the highest religious faiths in the world," he declared. "All that has been accomplished is due only to the goodness of God operating through faithful stewards of His means," the Washington cleric reported.

Also reporting to the session late yesterday was H. K. Halladay, seven-state regional director of Home Missions and Sabbath Schools. Halladay recounted the vital work performed by the church's welfare societies in disasters affecting the seven-state area around and in Pennsylvania as well as the national disasters such as the floods in California and the international catastrophes as the Mexican hurricane damage. Estimated cash value of welfare materials and labors given by members of the Eastern Pennsylvania Conference was over $367,000. "We believe welfare work is the real warp and wool of religion," Halladay declared. "For that reason we have also organized with as many welfare centers as we can in the seven-state areas. Stock piling of materials is also carried out in regional warehouses," he said.

"The Sabbath School which is the church at study is organized into 59 units associated with the church," reported T. H. Weis, director of the Sabbath School Department for the Eastern Conference. "In the two year period just concluded members and friends of these schools gave over $159,000 to foreign missions. We feel that a strong mission program is the best way to work for a better world. Because of the rapid means of transportation today the persons living in the farthest corners of the globe are our next door neighbors," Weis declared.

Featured today are William A. Higgins, world publishing director; and James E. Chase, director of radio and television departments at world headquarters in Washington, D. C. Tomorrow's services will close the camp meeting. Featured will be William B. Ochs, director of the church's North American Division, who will speak at 11 in the morning. In the afternoon the well known Blue Mountain Academy choir will sing. The closing service in the evening at 7:30 will feature James E. Chase, radio and television director. Stroudsburg delegates will be returning home from the 10-day assembly Sunday.

Just Between Us—By Bobby Westbrook

If there is such a thing as a universal impulse, it was probably the one which hit everyone yesterday morning when they opened their eyes to another rainy day. It was the impulse to groan "Oh no!" and turn over and go back to sleep.

Actually, once you had resigned yourself to no golf, no swimming, no gardening, it wasn't too bad a day—not if you turned on the heat and put on sweaters, and could stay indoors.

As a matter of fact it was a splendid excuse for a bridge game to fill the hours you might have spent outdoors, for seeking bright company to counteract the sudden dripping.

Of course, if it had been a bright and sunny day, we'd have found plenty that had to be done in the house and bemoaned the hours we were wasting all pent up.

I don't know why we do it—keep finding excuses to make to ourselves for doing what we want to do instead of what we should. Nobody else cares, but it eases our conscience I suppose.

"I've earned a little relaxation," we tell ourselves soothingly as we settle down to the new magazine with the breakfast dishes still on the table.

"Have to keep up with the news," we assure ourselves as we devote an hour to a newspaper, including the crossword and comics. The trouble is we don't really believe ourselves, and end up feeling guilty and rushed anyway.

In Detroit they were met by a convoy of busses which took them to the park. Christine and Jennie are in a patrol of 8 girls, a troop of 32 and a camp of 960 girls.

On Saturday night they were two of 6,000 people at the family campfire held in the arena. Telegrams were read from prominent people, including Mamie Eisenhower. As a climax, each girl was asked to light up her face with a flash-light for a picture which is to appear in the July 12 issue of Life.

On Sunday they attended a church service with 2,000 girls participating. They report that the food has been wonderful, and the weather fair.

If iron rust has stained a fabric lightly, squeeze lemon juice on the stain and spread the garment in the sun for awhile, then rinse.

Seeing my neighbors taking snapshots of their children suggests to me that I am very remiss about this. I have a few snaps and photographs of the youngsters taken several years ago, but nothing more recent, except a few school pictures. And I'm wondering if one can really depend upon memory to recall all those funny, pleasant, momentous moments one means to treasure forever, but which somehow have a way of fading.

Certainly our photographic equipment is much in demand during the summer when vacationists rush to the Poconos, accompanied by a strong determination to capture forever every exciting minute. Cameras, films, and film developing, account for a big share of the business done by the girls in our stationery department all year round, but particularly during the summer.

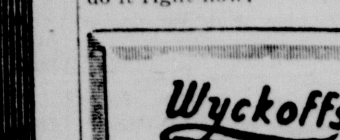

If I had ever doubted the pleasure to be found in old pictures, it would have been dispelled the other day when Mr. Wyckoff approached Lizzie Koch in our millinery department, waving a handful of prints, yellowed and faded with age, that someone had mailed him. "Look here, Lizzie," my boss teased. "Lizzie had a new dress."

Sure enough, Lizzie had . . . some fifty years ago, when those pictures were taken. It wasn't exactly new by today's standards, but Lizzie laughed as she studied it, and said, "You know, we used to WORK in those things, wearing an apron over the top." We chuckled, wondering how on earth the bottom ever stayed presentable, trailing in the dirt as it did, fore and aft.

In another picture, Lizzie was shown wearing her hair piled in an impressive crown atop her head. Her throne was a huge wooden box, just arrived on the Wyckoff selling floor apparently. It was lettered "WE—America's Most Popular Corset." And in a third picture was the entire Wyckoff personnel of the era, with Lizzie seated next to another very popular member of our store family, Selma Ruster. Selma's face was full and round . . . not at all like the Selma of today, except for the friendly smile and twinkling eyes.

As I was saying in the first paragraph, whenever I see my neighbors taking pictures in their back yards, or leaf through the tremendous albums that record precious moments in the lives of such mythical folk as the Shorty Widmers, I'm afraid I'm terribly remiss. I'll probably find it easy enough to remember how dignified the youngsters were at Bible School graduation and confirmation; how very impressed they were with their new bikes and their Easter ensembles . . . but I'll probably forget how kind and attentive they were to the new kittens . . . how important they felt doing their first pin-money jobs . . . how thoroughly bedraggled they were, returning from an all night camping trip . . . how vain, after their tonsilectomies . . . and such.

Only one thing is good about not having a wealth of pictures. I can't be haunted ten years hence by my "fashionable" hat of today. If that hat is destined to make anyone hysterical, it will have to do it right now!

Strange Story On America's Religious Scene Revolves Around One Man From New Jersey

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

A strange story on America's religious scene today revolves around one man.

Virtually every major church leader knows of him, and has discussed him in exasperated private conversations.

But they seldom mention his name publicly.

Officially, they seek to ignore him, maintaining that to dispute with him openly would tend to magnify his views beyond their significance.

The man is the Rev. Mr. Carl McIntire of Collingswood, N.J., and he wages a running war against the country's principal Christian institutions.

"I'm under no disillusionment about their attitude toward me," he says. "The only reason they won't argue publicly is that they can't answer the facts. It would embarrass them and reveal their untenable position."

A minister, pamphleteer, book publisher, editor, picket-line organizer and roving orator, McIntire says the major churches are doctrinally unsound and riddled with compromises and Communist ideas.

Charge
They're not true Bible-believers, he says. "Apostasy has captured the major denominations." He urges congregations to separate from them.

Lately, a counter-upset has occurred.

The Rev. Mr. McIntire, for who 20 years has sought to stir revolt in other churches, has been confronted by a revolt of his own denomination—a separate body he himself helped establish.

"Some of them wanted a softer approach in the battle against apostasy," he said. "We intend to continue the same strong, vigorous attack."

The over-all background:
With groups disaffected from old-line churches, McIntire led in setting up the American Council of Christian Churches in 1941 and the International Council of Christian Churches in 1948.

They have regular representation from some small, separated denominations and associations with a total U.S. membership reported at 263,311, about one-half of 1 per cent of American Protestantism.

"It does not take numbers to make news," says McIntire's weekly, the Christian Beacon. "It takes an issue. It takes action."

As president of one or the other of the organizations ever since their start, the handsome, articulate McIntire travels to many cities, organizing rallies and accusing various church leaders of "modernism and unbelief."

"The purity of the church," he says, "comes ahead of peace."

He says a key aim of the two organizations is to "offset and expose" the National and World Councils of Churches, which include most of America's main Protestant and Orthodox denominations.

His organizations, with similar titles but without the broad make-up or programs of the National and World Councils, often schedule meetings near the same time and place, taking part of the news spotlight.

"I'm a great believer in competition, and we're giving them some competition," he says.

McIntire accuses the predominant Protestant leadership of failing to teach the Bible literally word for word, of harboring liberal interpretations and abetting left-wing ideas.

He says the major churches

Presbyterians, Methodists, Baptists, Episcopalians, Congregationalists, Lutherans and others—sponsor social-action groups paralleling "Communist fronts."

He also accuses Protestants of being too soft toward Roman Catholicism in considering it a "sister communion."

Picket
When two Russian groups—one sponsored by Baptists and one by the National Council—visited this country this summer, McIntire's group organized picketing and protest rallies in various cities.

This spring, McIntire's own denomination, the Bible Presbyterian Church, whose 8,000 members made it the second largest body in the American and International Council, quit both organizations.

The complaint made against Mr. McIntire at the church's synod meeting were "undemocratic leadership" and "exaggerated claims."

Mr. McIntire says "there was no justification" for the charges and that the denominational meeting itself was improperly called.

"So far as anything being undemocratic," he said, "every election of me has been by the proper bodies. It's a very false charge."

Inasmuch as his church's action technically left McIntire without qualifications as a denominational representative in the organizations, some Bible Presbyterians followers have since formed a separate association.

THE RECORD

By Bob Clark
Sports Editor

RAINS AND poor playing conditions failed to stop the previously established fine pitching duel of Bill Sommers and Bob Bonser when the respective Strouds and Saylorsburg hurlers locked horns at Gordon Giffels Field July Fourth.

The tilt between Sommers and Bonser was billed as a pitchers' duel and it was just that as young Billy topped cagy Bob 1-0 in 10 innings.

It was interesting to watch the different attributes of the two moundsmen as they matched each other pitch for pitch along the route.

Sommers, strong armed, exhibited for the most part speed blended with a good curve ball, while Bonser countered effectively throughout with his Sunday pitch—a drop.

Bill showed what youth can do—keep blazing away until something pops, while Bonser used all the savvy accumulated over the years, pitching with cunning only when the situation demanded it.

It was the second time Sommers bested Bonser this year in Pocono Mountain League competition. Not long ago Billy won out 2-1 in 11 innings at Saylorsburg.

The only drawback of yesterday's twirling masterpiece was that very few fans witnessed the performance. It could be that the weather was instrumental in keeping away some of the diehards. If so, area fandom missed a hill job that could not be seen anywhere at anytime by two chuckers—the victor and the vanquished.

Henry Williams, the comparatively young pro, played like an old professional as he led the pack in the annual Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament at the Glen Brook Country Club last Monday.

Williams, touring the local links like he owned it, came in with a fine four-under par 69 to take all the marbles in the "sideline" professional individual sweepstakes.

Henry, along with his partner, Leo Heller, formerly of Stroudsburg formed a two-some, however, that was forced to share first place in the pro-am best-ball classic—tying them was a pair of Philadelphia suburbanites—John Lewis, pro, and Harvey Smith, a fireman by trade but a darn good golfer when he isn't hanging on to the hook and ladder truck.

Lewis and Smith, both of whom play out of Holmesburg Country Club, formed a steady pair as John came up with a 72 and Harvey pulled up with a 71 to take Amateur "sweepstakes" honors.

The tournament had its share of arguments with the most persistent coming from those who used the back (furthest away) tee on the 18th hole.

While the figures are not known nor will they ever be, it would be a good guess to say that at least half of the entrants used the short (closest tee) on the 18th.

There is no doubt that those hitting from the short tee benefited. However, tournament officials pointed out, the final results would have been the same. This, we feel, might have been questioned if "boys" instead of men were playing the local tournament trail Monday.

Rain Forces Postponement of Area's Sports Schedule

Some Loops To Make Up Games Today

YESTERDAY'S heavy rain forced the postponement of the areas sports schedule in three Little League, Babe Ruth and Monroe County Softball circuits.

Washed out were the Penn Stroud Hotel and National Bank game in the Stroudsburg Little League, R. C. Cramer-Heller-Lloyd Howell tilt in the East Stroudsburg LL, and the Pocono Lake at Barrett Lions, Barrett Rotary at Mount Pocono, and Tobyhanna at Tannersville tussels in the Pocono Mountain Little League.

The Monroe County Softball League was hit for the third straight day in an attempt to get its second half race under way when the weatherman doomed the Nebel's Market and Tobyhanna Depot inaugural.

Postponed in the Stroudsburg-Barrett Babe Ruth circuit was the Engine Works and Worthington Mower game slated for Gordon Giffels Field.

Play Today
Some leagues plan to makeup games today. In the Stroudsburg Little League, Penn Stroud Hotel will take on People's Coal at Little League Park in a replay of an early season deadlock. Game time is 6:30 p.m.

Action today in the East Stroudsburg LL has National Bank coming to grips with Methodist Church. The tilt, set for Little League Park, will start at 6:30 p.m.

All three of yesterday's postponed games in the Pocono Mountain Little League will be played today with the same home fields the site of the contests.

In the Monroe County loop, Twin City and IAM will attempt to get the second half rolling today at Stroudsburg Playground Field, starting at 6:30 p.m.

Stroudsburg LL Officials To Meet Today
A MEETING of Stroudsburg Little League officials, managers and other personnel will be held today at Little League Park, following the Penn-Stroud Hotel-People's Coal game.

President Jack Mullins announced that if the Little League tilt is postponed then the meeting will be held at the Stroudsburg YMCA, starting at 8 p.m.

Betting, Turnout Up At Delaware
STANTON, Del. July 5 (AP)—Delaware Park wound up its 1956 meeting here yesterday with total wagering of $36,863,205 and attendance of 473,967, slightly higher than last year's figures as the result of a 33-day 1956 season against 14,509 and $1,134,490 in 1955.

The wagering was the third highest in the track's 19-year history, topped only by the $37,977,548 of 1953, and the $37,171,418 of 1954.

Cubs Push Braves Out Of 1st Spot
MILWAUKEE, July 5 (AP)—The six-place Chicago Cubs exploded for five runs in the seventh inning tonight to defeat the Milwaukee Braves, 7-1, and shove the Braves out of first place in the National League.

The defeat toppled the Braves into second place where they were 3 percentage points behind the Cincinnati Redlegs and 8 points ahead of the third-place Brooklyn Dodgers.

Stable Foreman Passes Buck On Info Regarding Needles
OCEANPORT, N. J. — If you want to find out anything about D & H Stable's Needles, as he preps for Monmouth Handicap on July 14, find someone besides Joe Rutter, stable foreman under Trainer Hugh Fontaine.

For Joe is as reticent about Needles as that colt is obstinate when he does not feel like working. Every inquiry directed at Rutter in an effort to learn how Needles is doing, is parried with the remark: "Ask Mr. Fontaine, he knows more about this horse than anyone else."

Favorite
In three decades of experience in which Rutter has worked for only five trainers, Joe confides that Fontaine is his favorite. "There isn't a trainer that I know who would have handled Needles the way Mr. Fontaine did," says Rutter. "I probably won't have any more friends on the back side for saying this but I do believe it." Joe added, with a shrug of his shoulders and the wry smile of a man who has just tipped the balance of the scale completely to one side.

"Trainer after trainer came to Mr. Fontaine at Churchill Downs, all saying Needles needed a race before the Kentucky Derby," continued Rutter.

Every man in the Tiger lineup felt safely and righthander Frank Lary, who had neither won nor completed a game since June 1, gave up only five hits although blasted for a pair of home runs that accounted for all of the Cleveland scoring.

Jim Busby smashed a grand slammer in the first inning following an error, a hit batsman and a walk. It was his seventh of the season. Al Rosen connected for his 12th with two men aboard in the sixth.

The Tigers, whose last victory at home was on June 15, ripped into Bob Lemon for five straight hits and six runs in the second.

Tigers End Home Drought, Score Early To Rap Tribe 13-7

DETROIT, July 5 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers erupted for 11 runs in the first three innings today and hung on for a 13-7 triumph over the Cleveland Indians, ending a winless Briggs Stadium streak that extended through 15 games.

2 U.S. Crews Show Way In Henley Races
HENLEY - ON - Thames, England, July 5 (AP)—Two U. S. crews and one from Canada showed the British how to buck the wild waves today and moved forward in the Royal Henley Regatta which ends Saturday.

Sun, rain and gusty winds brought Henley all kinds of weather today but in the evening when things became placid, once more, Princeton's lightweight eight was a step closer to what it wants—the Thames Challenge Cup of this venerated regatta.

Princeton, along with Kent, Conn., school, advanced to the quarter-finals of this glamor event in rowing. A Brookville, Ont., four moved into the quarter-finals of another of the regatta's 10 major competitions.

Princeton defeated the Thames River Rowing Club over the mile and 550-yard course by one and a quarter lengths in 7 minutes, 28 seconds and never seemed in trouble. Tomorrow the lightweight Tigers row against the Isis Boat Club of Oxford.

Tops London
Kent defeated the London Rowing Club eight in 7:39 and tomorrow goes against the British Vesta Club boatload. The Brookville four some measured the London Rowing Club quartet in the Wyford Cup race and tomorrow meets the Lady Margaret Boat Club of Cambridge.

Reading Woman Wins Clymer Cup
READING, July 5 (AP)—Mrs. Harry Terpstra, of Reading, finished six down to par today to win the sixth annual Clymer Cup golf tournament at the Berkshire Country Club.

TCU's Meyer Has Winning 'Philosophy'
FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Leo Robert (Dutch) Meyer, whose philosophy of sport is "If you lose you should always bleed a little," has won himself another championship.

Meyer didn't need it; for 30 years he had coached at Texas Christian University and won all kinds of championships. He once had the nation's No. 1 team—TCU of 1938. He retired from coaching three years ago and settled back to the less glamorous—and less troublesome—job of athletic director.

Vacant Job
Then the jog of coaching the baseball team fell vacant, Meyer said he would take it over just to help out. All he did was drive his team to the Southwest Conference championship by a margin of four and one-half games. They said he had the Frogs fighting just as hard in baseball as in football.

It was TCU's second baseball championship. The first was in 1933 and the coach was Meyer.

McDougald's 3 Hits, 4 RBIs Leads Yanks Over Bosox 6-1

BOSTON, July 5 (AP)—Gil McDougald bolstered southpaw Whitney Ford's seven-hit pitching with a home run, a double and a single today for a 6-1 New York Yankee victory over Boston at rain-drenched Fenway Park.

The second game was postponed and will be played as a night game Sept. 5.

Wild Animal Races On Tap At Nazareth
NAZARETH — Something new will be added to the weekly stock car racing program at the Nazareth Fairgrounds this Sunday night, 7 o'clock, when the management presents a special attraction: Wild animal races.

The special show will feature ostriches, camels, bulls, donkeys in special sulky races, with disc jockeys as the drivers. This show will be making its first appearance in Nazareth, and will precede the regular stock car races.

The ostriches run as fast as 40 miles an hour, and an unusual beast to perform is a zonkey—a cross between a zebra and a donkey. The show is a Gene Holter production.

Five Races
Besides the wild animal show, there will be five all-star races, featuring 5 cars from New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania. The star driver at the moment is Jack Bergstresser, Phillipsburg, N. J., who won the 25-lap feature event last Sunday.

Top point men are Fred Fehr, Otto Harwi and Dave Rapp. The stock cars will run under the arc lights.

Bond Sets Fast Pace
OCEANPORT, N. J., June 14 — J. Bowes Bond is making a runaway of the trainers race at Monmouth Park. In the first 15 days he saddled 10 winners.

Mantle May Play In 2, 3 Days
NEW YORK, July 5 (AP)—An X-ray examination of Mickey Mantle's injured right knee tonight revealed some sprained ligaments and the New York Yankee team physician said the young slugger may be able to play again "in two or three days—although perhaps only as a pinch-hitter."

There was no indication whether Mantle will be in the starting lineup for Tuesday's All-Star game at Washington. His availability for the annual classic will hinge on how the knee, to be supported by a brace, reacts during the Yankee's series with the Senators at Washington this weekend.

Mantle, who was able to walk on the knee tonight without support from a crutch or cane, said, "I'll throw that brace away as soon as I can."

He has been hobbled by several knee and leg injuries in the past and has worn braces before, one on either side of the knee. "I couldn't pivot with those at all," he said, "but the doctor says I'll be able to pivot with this new one. But I won't be able to tell until I try it on."

Mantle hopes to leave tomorrow, after the fitting, to rejoin the Yankees in Washington.

Schoonover, Hintze New BR Officials

DOUGLAS Schoonover was named supervisor and Elwood (Pickles) Hintze was appointed president in organizational changes in the Stroudsburg-Barrett Babe Ruth League yesterday.

The naming of Schoonover and Hintze to BR executive posts were made by District Tow Babe Ruth Commissioner Eugene Martin.

Schoonover will take over a newly created post, guiding the workings of the area BR setup. Hintze replaces Alfred Munson who resigned because of the pressure of other duties.

Schoonover is no newcomer to Babe Ruth League activities, being one of the founders of the circuit when the loop was first sponsored by the Stroudsburg Kiwanis Club.

Hintze has been active in area youth athletics for a number of years.

Wall Has 67 But Trails Winger By 2

POINTE CLAIRE, Que., July 5 (AP)—Bo Winger of Oklahoma City dropped a 6-foot putt on the 18th green for a seven-under-par record equalling 65 today for the first lead in the Canadian Open Golf Championship.

Winger's round, which was made up of 35 on the front nine and a six-under-par 30 coming home, matched the Beaconsfield Club's course record.

Snatches Lead
His 65 snatched the lead from another pair of Americans—Dow Finsterwald of Bedford Heights, Ohio, and Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla., who shot 67s.

Art Wall, of Pocono Manor, Pa., and Paul Haney of Bolton, Mass., came in later with 67s, making a four-way tie for second.

Draft Of Petition Given To Council

PEN ARGYL — Pen Argyl Borough Council received a draft of a petition calling for a reduction of council members from 12 to eight. Borough Solicitor Richard Kitto prepared the draft. The draft of the petition was given to each council member to study.

If no objections will occur, the council would like to take action at the next meeting and have the petition circulated among the people of Pen Argyl. The petition, if accepted, would call for two council members from each ward rather than the present three.

It was previously expressed that a smaller council would facilitate and make a more efficient council procedure. It was also pointed out that Pen Argyl is one of the few small towns that have a 12-man council.

Unanimous Vote

By a unanimous vote the council decided that it will file a formal complaint with Public Utilities Commission against the proposed 25 per cent increase in water rates made by the Blue Mountain Consolidated Water Co. The council will request a public hearing on the rate increase that is to go in effect September 1.

Also, the council voted unanimously to petition the Pennsylvania Public Utilities Commission to give authorization to construct public crossings at Arch, Davey and Ridge streets. These crossings marked private, are the property of the Lehigh & New England Railroad Co.

In other business, the council accepted the resignation of Earle Repsher. Permission was granted to St. Roch's Church to hold its annual celebration and fireworks display at Weona Park.

The council directed the police committee to ascertain the opinion of the local business men concerning the installation of parking meters in the busier places in town and where problems will most likely arise.
